Ginny is an intellectual property account manager and patent agent trainee at Stratford Intellectual Property. She works with clients in managing IP portfolios and developing effective IP strategies tailored to suit their business needs as she undergoes comprehensive training on patent drafting and prosecution.

Driven by a desire for continuous learning, Ginny is set to effectively contribute to the intricate landscape of intellectual property as an intellectual property expert and patent agent. With industry experience in the energy sector, pharmaceuticals, and environmental sciences, Ginny works closely with clients in drafting high quality, and comprehensive patent applications. Ginny is especially keen on helping clients access funding for their IP, and has a wealth of experience in navigating the various funding agencies across Canada, including Elevate IP, IPON, and IRAP.
